

Membership Contributions to the Great Lakes Observing System

The Membership of the Great Lakes Observing System (GLOS) is expected to support the mission, activities, projects and systems of GLOS. Members will be expected to do the following:

- Promote open access to Great Lakes data through information-sharing, formal and informal agreements, and collaborations.
- Spread the word about GLOS systems, activities, projects, goals and objectives within your organization, and among your constituents, customers and colleagues.
- Actively participate in GLOS annual meetings, committees, work plan development and review, and other GLOS activities and projects.
- Ensure that the Member-organization's representative to GLOS is knowledgeable about and informed of GLOS systems, activities, projects, goals and objectives; and notify the Executive Director and/or the Secretary of the Board of Directors of any change in representation.
- Participate with other members in determining membership policies and procedures.
